Soldiers Called Out When Exhausted Police Are Unable To Keep Order.

THE MILITIA IS FIRED ON

The Squad Has to Fight Negroes on Way to Its Station and Others Are Targets For Ambushed Rioters; 200 Police Fight Mob For Two Hours.

By Associated Press.

CHICAGO, July 31.—The main negro quarters of Chicago today were controlled by 6,000 soldiers as a result of a rioting that caused 30 deaths, 7 injuries and 13 whites, and the injury of more than 50 persons, 200 of whom were severely hurt and a dozen of whom may die. No deaths were reported during the night but many injuries and fires were recorded.

Governor Frank O. Lowden ordered his troops out last night on request of Mayor William Hale Thompson after lawlessness had brought the renewed looting and the city's 3,000 policemen found themselves exhausted. The first, second and third reserve militia and the Tenth and Eleventh Illinois Infantry were sent on duty by Adjutant General Dickson while the Tenth Regiment remained in reserve in the stockyard and the Fourth Reserve on the west side.

Fighting kept up after the troops reached their stations shortly before midnight and one squad of soldiers had to fight a crowd of negroes to reach their stations while other soldiers were fired on from ambush on the way to duty.

The most serious riot of the night took place at 53rd and State streets, where 200 policemen fought nearly two hours a crowd of negroes, firing several hundred shots before the rioters were subdued and 45 of them arrested. It was only after the patrolmen had cut their way into some of the buildings and seized a dozen snipers with their rifles and 500 cartridges that the fighting ceased.

Rain which had threatened during the early hours of the morning began falling heavily shortly after 6 o'clock. It seemed effectively to dampen the spirit of even the stragglers remaining about the riot area for they disappeared without awaiting the appearance of the soldiers.

Officers in command reported that to all appearances the district practically was deserted and were of the opinion that this marked the end of this disorder which for five days had gripped Chicago.

Thomas Copeland, a negro, 18 years old, died today of bullet wounds received in yesterday's riot.

Negroes early today wrecked the windows of a shoe store in East 35th street, owned by a white man and carried away a quantity of shoes.

With the coming of daylight it was discovered that rioters in a number of streets on the South Side had stretched steel cables across the pavement with the evident intention of preventing the fire department from answering alarms and perhaps wrecking apparatus.

80TH DIVISION IS HIGHLY PRAISED BY GEN. S. D. BUTLER

Commander of Embarkation Camp at Brest Speaks Flatteringly of This Famous Organization.

The War Department has authorized the publication of a letter from Brigadier General S. D. Butler of the Marine Corps, commanding Camp Pontzenet, port of embarkation in France, commending the 80th Division, which included the drafted men from Western Pennsylvania, West Virginia and Virginia. The letter says:

"Having received reports from all departments of the camp testifying to the excellent condition and soldierly bearing of the 80th Division, commanded by Major General Cronkite, which recently passed through this camp on their return to the United States, I wish to pass this information to those who made such a good appearance."

"The condition of their records, their discipline, cleanliness, and the reports on their inspections are of the very best. It has indeed been a pleasure to prepare the division for embarkation with such an energetic and willing personnel."

"Their stay while in camp marked the beginnings of friendships which it is hoped will be cemented by future association. In fact we of the permanent personnel at this camp are pleased to have been the host for such a division and to have had the chance of assisting them on their return journey."

"It is recommended that this letter be given publicity in the states of Pennsylvania, Virginia and West Virginia, so that the people of those states from which the bulk of the 80th Division came may know of our warm friendliness for their men."

MRS. TRUMAN H. NEWBERRY

Mrs. Truman H. Newberry, wife of the junior senator from Michigan. As Mrs. Newberry was secretary of the navy under President Roosevelt, she has many old friends in Washington.

Rush of Passengers to Rear Alone Prevents It From Plunging Over.

PITTSBURGH, July 31.—Two scores of persons narrowly escaped death or serious injury this morning when a crowded Carriek trolley car went through a derailing switch in South 15th street and after running wild along the top of a 100-foot cliff came to a stop at the head of the embankment.

Several women fainted and a dozen persons were crushed in a panic during the car's mad dash. Two men jumped from the speeding car but were not seriously hurt.

A rush of passengers to the rear of the car, it is said, only prevented it from plunging over the cliff and being shattered with its human freight on the rocks below.

SLIGO WILL RESUME FULL OPERATIONS ON NEXT MONDAY MORNING

Securing of Rooms For Employees a Big Problem For the Management.

Sligo will resume in full on Monday with between 300 and 400 men employed. Superintendent Olson stated this morning. Enough orders are on hand now to continue for the remainder of the year.

Superintendent Olson says that most of the men required to operate the mill have been secured but the problem of securing houses and room and board for them is a big one. ## CROSS SUITS

Dunbar Chief of Police and Game Warden Prosecute One Another.

Cross suits have been entered by Chief of Police Ross May of Dunbar and Sam Fasson of this city. Deputy game warden, the former charging survey of the peace and carrying concealed weapons, and Fasson charging larceny of the person.

The trouble developed when Fasson arrested Constable Pierce Baker of Dunbar and brought him before Alderman O'Donovan charging false arrest. The Dunbar constable gave bail Tuesday evening. On his return to Dunbar Fasson was locked up by Chief May and remained in the jail there until after midnight.

Fasson claims May took $32 from him and also his gun, which he refused to return when Fasson secured bail. It is alleged by the Dunbar officials that Fasson, as a game warden, usurped the powers of constable and made arrests. Fasson has arrested foreigners living near the furnace for having dogs, and these persons have been fined by Squire Polz of Dunbar. It is claimed by one side that Fasson has no authority to make these arrests, while the game warden says he has the authority.

CZECHO-SLOVAKS START DRIVE FOR FOOD AND CLOTHES

Mount Pleasant Stirred by Appeal for Relief of War Sufferers in Europe.

Special to The Courier.

MOUNT PLEASANT, July 31.—The Czechoslovakians of Mount Pleasant have started a drive for clothing and food to be sent to the sufferers in their native land. Headquarters have been opened in the Bohemian hall with Mrs. Joseph Devorak, chairman of the Bohemian unit of the Mount Pleasant Red Cross chapter, in charge. No dates have been set for the drive but the headquarters will be open at all times to receive any donations.

The drive was opened after a talk on conditions in Europe had been given Tuesday night by Miss M. E. Novakova, secretary of the Red Cross in Czechoslovakia. Sedley E. Peck, of the United States Army, and a worker for the Hoover commission, also spoke, appealing to the Czechoslovakians and Bohemians in this country to assist the people in the stricken nations.

Children born in the past two years have not been clothed except in newspapers, they said. An allowance of one ounce of soap a week is only an example of other conditions over there. The land gives one the impression that it had been swept by fire, they stated, desolation being all about.

White in Mount Pleasant the workers were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Novak. Recently Mr. Novak sent a box of canned milk, beans and other goods, valued at $100, to Prague through the commission. They personally thanked him for his donation.

The commission declares it "unlawful" for the company to change rates within three years after the determination of the questions involved as to the reasonableness of the six-cent fare, without first applying to the commission.

ARMY'S SURPLUS FOOD STOCKS TO BE SOLD BY MAIL

Secretary Baker Having Price List Prepared For Every Postmaster in Country.

WASHINGTON, July 31.—Through the postmasters of the country the War Department will offer to consumers its present available supply of surplus foodstuffs, amounting to approximately $41,000,000 pounds. This surplus, consisting of canned vegetables, as expected to be sold within a week at prices representing the cost of the government plus postage.

Arrangements for the sale of the foodstuffs, directed by a resolution passed Tuesday by the House, were made at a conference held by Secretary of War Baker with Post Office Department officials and Representatives Kelly of Braddock, Pa., author of the resolution.

Secretary Baker at the close of the conference said a price list covering the entire available surplus would be prepared at once by Assistant Secretary Crowell. This list, it was said at the Post Office Department, would be sent out to each of the 54,000 postmasters of the country and to every rural route carrier.

The postmasters and carriers, under arrangements made at the conference will act as government salesmen, informing interested consumers of the prices and methods of sale and taking orders for the foodstuffs.

Payment will be made by buyers at the time the orders are given the postmasters and carriers, who will issue receipts, which will be redeemable in cash in event of inability to fill the orders through exhaustion of the supply.

In accordance with the House resolution the foodstuffs will be distributed by direct post, and the prices to be quoted at each postoffice will represent the original cost of the foodstuffs to the government and the parcels post transportation charges from the nearest War Department depot having the foodstuffs in storage. The prices quoted, officials said, would be considerably below the prevailing market prices.

While the amount of foodstuffs in each class has not been estimated, hearing before a House war investigating committee recently showed the value of the surplus available July 8 to be approximately as follows:

Canned vegetables, $23,000,000; corned beef, $24,000,000; bacon, $23,000,000; hashed corned beef, $10,000,000; roast beef, $20,000,000, and fresh frozen meat and poultry, $20,000,000.

"FIGHTING TENTH" VETS IN REUNION AT MT. PLEASANT

All-Day Program Arranged For Men Who Served in Philippine Insurrection.

Members of the old "Fighting Tenth," the boys who upheld Fayette county's reputation for valor in the Spanish-American war and the Philippine insurrection, met today in annual reunion at Mount Pleasant for the second time in that town since the regiment, returned from the Philippines. The first meeting there was in July, 1907, when a big dinner was held at Frick park.

The morning was devoted principally to registry and welcome of the visitors and a baseball game between Somerset and Morewood. At noon a dinner was served in Red Men's hall by the Protected Home Circle. Motion pictures were shown at Grand Opera house prior to a camp fire attended by a large number of the veterans. The afternoon program was made up of a daylight fireworks display at Frick park and other points and band concerts by the Municipal band.

Dinner was served to 262 veterans at noon. At 2 o'clock it was feared rain might prevent the daylight fireworks, it having sprinkled enough to prevent the ball game from being played in the morning. The set piece for the display included pyrotechnic pictures of Captain Zundell and Lieutenant Stevenson, Mount Pleasant men who gave their lives in the war with Germany.

Band concerts by the Municipal band, with Clyde Carney as soloist, provided enjoyable.

The Tenth Regiment, commanded by the late Colonel A. L. Hawkins, consisted of eight companies of the Pennsylvania National Guard. It mobilized at Mount Getz and sailed from San Francisco in June 15, 1898 for Manila. It participated in several severe engagements. A detail of Company I of Greensburg, commanded by Second Lieutenant Richard Coulter of that town, is said to have captured Aguinaldo, the Philippine chief, though credit always went to General Funston.

The regiment was sent to outpost duty on the morning of July 31, encamping near Capuehin. Night brought a deluge of rain and thick darkness. Fearing a flank attack by the Spanish forces in trenches about Port Matate, Companies D of Connellsville and E of Mount Pleasant, commanded, respectively by Captain F. B. Hawkins, a son of Colonel Hawkins, and James A. Lear, were moved out to the right of the American line where the engagement began about 11 o'clock.

To Corporal William Christner, Mount Pleasant, belongs the honor of having opened the scrap Captain Lear thought he saw one of the enemy moving out front and ordered the corporal to take a shot anyhow. At the round the Spaniard, opened up with everything they had. The firing on both sides was heavy throughout the balance of the night. Companies D and E retiring to the trenches after expending some 50 rounds of ammunition.

Senator New, Republican member of the foreign relations committee, said after a visit to the White House today that he had told the President "it would be utterly impossible to get the Senate to accept the peace treaty as it stands" and that it either would be ratified with reservations or fail.

Senator New said he told the President he was utterly opposed to Article 10 of the League of Nations covenant. ## BRING BODIES HOME

Is Sentiment Expressed by Friends of the Soldier Dead.

WASHINGTON July 31.—In hearings before the Foreign Affairs committee it has developed that the sentiment of at least 75 per cent of the friends of the soldiers who were killed or died in France favors the return of the bodies. Recently the War Department issued a statement seeking to convince friends of the soldier dead that it would be best to permit their bodies to remain in French soil. Desiring to learn the feelings of the people in the matter Congressman Porter, chairman of the committee, caused inquiry to be made of the next of kin of the dead. Replies received indicate that 75 per cent prefer to have the bodies returned.

To do so an agreement was made by Secretary Baker with the French government in March 1918 by which it was arranged that the bodies be allowed to remain in France until the close of the war. Later the French government asked that the agreement be amended so as to defer the removal of bodies until after all American soldiers had left France. Still later France asked that three years after the war be allowed to intervene before removal. In March, 1919 our government protested against this, but nothing has yet been done by the French government to complete the arrangements for removal.

PARIS July 31.—General Pershing told his correspondents today that he would advise against the removal to the United States of the American dead in France. ## LIVING COSTS MUST BE REDUCED OR WAGES RAISED, SAYS STONE

Head of Brotherhood Makes Strong Presentation of Situation in a Statement to President.

WASHINGTON, July 31.—Warren S. Stone, president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers and other officials of the organization called at the White House yesterday and left with President Wilson a statement urging the necessity for action that will result in a decrease in the cost of living.

Ascribing the feeling of unrest which prevails to the constantly rising costs of food stuffs the statement declares that 'this situation is brought about mainly by the senseless profiteering by the great interests who have secured control of all the necessities of life.'

'At this time we find ourselves obliged to again request an increase in wages to meet the mounting cost of living but we feel that if this request be granted the relief would be but temporary should prices continue to soar.'

'We believe that it is essential, for the situation and one that will result in lifting the burden under which the whole people are struggling is for the government to take some adequate measures to reduce the cost of the necessities of life to a figure that the present wages and income of the people will meet. Should this not be considered feasible we will be forced to urge that those whom we represent be granted an increase in wages to meet the deterioration of the purchasing power of the dollar.'

WASHINGTON, July 31.—Willard G. Lee, president of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen announced today that unless the Railroad Administration had taken action by October 1 on the demands of the brotherhood the wages of the trainmen either be increased or the cost of living reduced steps to the enforcement of the demands would be taken.

The Effects of Opiates.

THAT INFANTS are peculiarly susceptible to opium and its various preparations, all of which are narcotic, is well known. Even in the smallest doses, if continued, these opiates cause changes in the functions and growth of the cells which are likely to become permanent, causing imbecility, mental perversion, a craving for alcohol or narcotics in later life. Nervous diseases such as intractable nervous dyspepsia and lack of staying powers are a result of doing with opiates or narcotics to keep children quiet in their infancy.

The rule among physicians is that children should never receive opiates in the smallest doses for more than a day at a time, and only then if unavoidable.

The administration of Anodynes, Drops, Cordials, Soothing Syrups and other narcotics to children by any but a physician cannot be too strongly decried, and the druggists should not be a party to it. Children who are all used the attention of a physician, and it is nothing less than a crime to dose them willfully with narcotics.

Castoria contains no narcotics if it bears the signature of Chase H. Fletcher. Genuine Castoria always bears the signature of Chase H. Fletcher.

Values For Every Room in the Home! Bargains Galore!

Again in this great August Sale the merchandising superiority and value-giving supremacy of the long-established Aaron institution clearly asserts itself. ## HONORING THE "OLD TENTH"

Mount Pleasant is driving much pleasure today from the agreeable duty it has of serving as host to the veterans of the Tenth Regiment
Pennsylvania Volunteer Infantry which was the official designation of the Tenth Regiment National Guard of Pennsylvania during its service in the Spanish American War and the Philippine Insurrection. More than ordinary interest attaches to the reunion of this regiment today because of the fact that its successor the 110th Infantry, 28th Division has so recently returned from service in the World War where it maintained with honor and high credit all the glorious traditions of the organization.

That there was not a larger number of the veterans of the 10th in the ranks of the 110th Infantry was due to the fact that they had passed the age limit or had become impaired in health or were unwilling to leave their homes and families. The men who had enjoyed the distinction of forming the first military unit of the United States to cross the Pacific ocean and defeat an enemy on foreign soil and hardships they had endured had been quite so great no regret quite so lasting or sincere as being refused the privilege of again enrolling with the famous regiment. Reluctantly realizing however that the time had passed for them with a few exceptions to render active field service they joined enthusiastically in those activities at home that were engaged in making up the more fortunate and younger boys who formed the membership of the regiment during its tour of duty in France.
The lessons of patriotism and loyalty the days of '98 had taught them were utilized in aiding the several communities from which the regiment was recruited in meeting their obligations in the united efforts of the day at home to help win the war and in otherwise discharging their full duties as citizens.

For this service no less than that rendered when they were in the prime and vigor of an ardent young manhood 21 years ago the members of the Old Tenth are today deserving of every honor Mount Pleasant with her proverbial grace and hospitality is bestowing with a lavish hand.

Reports from Chicago continue to remind us that we have a western front all our own and without any aid or assistance rationing sharing any of its secrets.

Dawson does not need to take any pointers from Conneltsville or Union town in the matter of aging a man coming welcome to the very men of the Lower Tenth. They have the habit no less than the ability to do such things in their own way and the way is always creditable to the enterprise and industry centering about the hustling box office.

This is the day and Mount Pleasant the place where fitting commemoration will be made of the anniversary of the fighting by the men of the second Ohio that was heard around the world.

South Conneltsville citizens having set the example in erecting a memorial for its service men to represent one fifth of its voting population deserve to be encouraged in their determination to provide suitable surroundings for the tributes they are raising to their heroes.

The Senate will very properly see that ratification of the French alliance is properly arrived at.

SONG OF FRIENDSHIP

Never mind the thunder
Never mind the storm
Stop awhile for better
Where the heart is warm
Come inside to laughter
Where it sings and cries
And share the joy of friendship
For the storm goes by Never mind your failure
With its black despair
Come to those who love you
And your grief will ease
They will gather round you
Though you skies are black
For while a friend is true
His strength comes back
Come oh man of sorrow
With your weight of woe
Come and do your weeping
With the folk who know
Come and sit beside us
Let us take your pain
For we have wept and suffered
And we understand

PICNIC SEASON ON IN FULL BLAST AT DUNBAR; OUTINGS HELD ALMOST EVERY DAY

Special to The Courier.
DUNBAR, July 31.—The picnic season is here and the young people are happy. Wednesday the Junior Epworth League and the M. E. S. S. opened the season with a monster picnic in the Dunbar creek valley east of the furnace dams. They were conveyed to the terminal of the N. H. & D. R. R. at Deerlick's yard by that company, and there turned loose to their enjoyments. The place of assemblage was the furnace store and three cars were necessary to carry the crowd and their supplies, which were abundant. The officials and foremen of the American Manganese Manufacturing company accepted the invitation to join the happy throng for the noonday feast.
And the day was certainly a great one for the participants, old and young. Ranging over the hills, wading in the streams, swimming in the holes, lounging on the green carpet under the friendly trees, feasting on luscious mountain blackberries, gathering wild flowers, fishing for minnows—in fact, all imaginable mountain enjoyments were indulged in the full, while youthful lovers hunted secluded nooks where curious ears might not overhear the tender words of appreciation and admiration. To all the evening came too soon, and it was with reluctance they turned their steps homeward when the locomotive whistle called them to the cars.
Today the P. S. S. and C. E. society are holding their annual picnic on the same grounds, and it promises to be the greatest gathering in point of numbers of the season. On Thursday of next week the Presbyterian S. S. will picnic on the same grounds. In fact, these grounds have become quite popular, and are about the only available place for picnicking. Recognizing this, committees have taken the matter in hand with a view to clearing out the underbrush and making other improvements adding to the convenience and attractiveness, and considerable work in that line has been done already. So suitable is the grounds, and so excellent and abundant the cold spring water supply that there has been some talk of making a park of it, and if the American Manganese Manufacturing company, owners of the land, will grant permission, a park will probably be made.
The Baptist S. S. and the Y. P. B. A. are holding their annual picnic today in Mount Braddock orchard, where they have been holding it for a number of years.
House Improvements.
W. R. Hardy's new house on Furnace hill is under roof and will be ready for occupancy by the middle of August, or shortly thereafter. Samuel Blacka has completed his house improvements and painted the whole building, adding much to its appearance. Clyde Martin has completed the improvements on his home on Seaton hill and it is ready for painting. Ralph Tanaglia of Pechin is making extensive addition to his property. James H. Martin of Pechin has erected a new garage for his automobile. James Hardy of Hardy hill is preparing to make extensive improvements to his home.
The old floors in the Furnace school have been replaced by new ones, and other improvements have also been made. These will allow the old building to be used for the present and avoid the necessity of building a new one.
Railroad Changes.
The West Penn is putting in many new ties between the borough line and McGees, and has made a great improvement at the road crossing near the old mill. The P. R. R. is putting in a great many new ties between Watts and Ferguson, and putting the road in fine shape. This is especially true of the track through the borough. The B. & O. has made great improvement in the side track of Dunbar station and practically put in a new set of ties. Many ties have also been put in the main line through the borough, besides making all road crossing first class. The N. H. & D. R. R. is also putting its lines in shape. The road crossing at the Harper school house is in miserable shape, and it will be improved when the workmen reach it.
New Scales Installed.
D. C. Feltz' old wagon scales, which had long done good service although in the inconvenient place between the railroads, were broken last winter by heavy trucks, and he is erecting a new pair of Howe scales south of the railroads where there will be less danger in their use. A road has been constructed to and over the new scales, insuring convenience in reaching them. He expects to have the work completed by the first of the week.
Treed by Bull.
That berry picking at Irishtown is not always commonplace was proven by the experience of Mrs. Hannah McClain of Keffers and Mrs. Flin McClain of Pechin, last Monday. Both from girlhood had been acquainted with Irishtown and knew of its fabulous berry crops, so they decided to have their share of the fruit. No one had told them that danger lurked in the pasture, so they were unprepared for the reception awaiting them—nor were they thought capable of the speed they made. They reached the field and had just begun to gather the tempting berries when a rumbling sound like distant thunder reached their ears. They looked at the sky but it was clear, not even a single cloud being visible. They went on with their work, but again that ominous sound nearer and louder than before, brought them to attention; and, lo, making toward them with lowered head and threatening mien, came an irate masculine bovine. With no weapon of defense and not even a dog with them, they gave one last look at the approaching bull, and then ran with all the speed they could muster for the fence and taurus brought up the rear. By superhuman efforts they reached the fence first, and it being a worm fence staked and double ridged, they climbed to the top rider and sat there safe, while the animal pawed his apologies. He kept them thus tread for half an hour.

Cook a Weather Prophet.
D. C. Foltz has a black bantam rooster that as a weather prophet appears more accurate than the government forecaster. If the weather promises to be fair he will roost outside the poultry house on a tree, but if a storm is coming he goes with the other chickens into the hen house. And he will do this no matter if the sky be clear in the evening. He seems to know when a storm is approaching, and has the good sense to avoid it. His forecasts so far have always proved correct.
Road Work Progressing.
Township Supervisor Thomas Kern of Trotter was in Dunbar on business yesterday morning. He was inspecting the work of Supervisor C. V. Hardy on the Hair hill road, and congratulated him on the progress made. Mr. Kern has the piece of road at West Leisnering connecting the other improved road sections almost completed, and continuous improved road between Conneltsville and Uniontown will soon be available to the public.
Children at Home.
Michael W. Miller, who last week took four orphans to the J. O. U. A. M. home for children, at Tiffin, Ohio, has returned home and is again at his work on the road. He found the home a fine one, and had no hesitancy in leaving the little ones in such good hands. There are nearly 200 children in the home, most of whom are "du" orphans.

Cow Solves Combination.
Herbert Baker of Keffers comes forward this year with the wisest cow in the community. He turned her into pasturing on G. W. Smitley's farm. A turning wicket gate with arms which prevents stock from leaving the field, but can easily be used for exit by persons by taking advantage of the arms and going between them kept the path. The cow wanting to get out seemed to study the mechanism of the gate and discovered that on one side the arms were shorter than on the other. Pushing the gate around until the short arms came next her head she was able to pass through without much inconvenience. Mr. Baker could not understand how she got out, but she soon solved the mystery, for as he was driving her along the road she quietly walked up to the turning gate and passed back into the field from which she had escaped. Smitley was obliged to put longer arms on the gate and now the wise cow remains inside.
Mrs. C. W. Baker and Mrs. Thomas Kelly of Pechin were shopping in Conneltsville Tuesday.
His 74th Birthday.
James Olds Martin of Irishtown last week celebrated his 74th birthday, by giving a dinner to a large number of his friends. They had a very enjoyable time. Mr. Martin had been quite feeble for several months, and it was feared he might not get better, but to the surprise and delight of all he overcame his trouble and is able to do some work on the farm again.

Persons.
W. C. Smith was in Uniontown yesterday on business.
Mr. and Mrs. Richard Fowler of Altoona were visiting Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Miller of Keffers over Sunday.
Old Brookvale school house, along the pike, has been purchased by C. E. Harvey of Dunbar, who has torn it down and will use the bricks in the construction of a building for himself here.
J. A. Lehman of Keffers has resigned his position on the road, and is again engaged in contract work.
Mrs. Ray-Fowler and son, Richard, of Mount Pleasant, spent several days last week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Miller of Keffers.

Simple Operations Fitted Together

The business of Swift & Company is the fitting together of many simple operations.

No one thing in a packing business is particularly difficult for men trained to do it; but no one thing is enough.

Thousands of other operations, properly performed, are necessary for the completed processes. And some one must fit together all these thousands of simple operations.

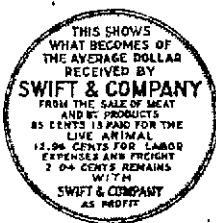

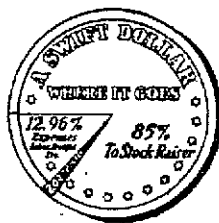

The success with which a packing business performs its function of supplying the best possible meat products to the consumer with the greatest possible benefit to both him and the producer depends upon the energy, brains, experience, and faithful effort of the men trained in the business.

Swift & Company turns the producer's live stock into meat for the consumer at a profit of only a fraction of a cent a pound, because it fits these operations together with the least waste, overlapping, and friction.

A HALT COMES IN INCREASE OF ACTIVE MERCHANT OVEN LIST

But Furnace Interests Continue to Augment Productive Capacity.

LARGE GAIN IN OUTPUT

Not All at Furnace Ovens; Merchants Cut Down Running Time as Means of Curtailing Coal Shortage More Serious at Coal-Loading Operations.

From The Weekly Courier.

As far as relates to the merchant coke producing interests the expansion of oven activity and production appear to have been halted, but the furnace interests continue their enlargement by both means. For some weeks past both interests have been gradually getting away from the low level of May through adding to the number of active plants and ovens and augmented production generally. The higher rate of weekly gain has been made by the furnace interests with the exception of a week or two until the respective percentages of active ovens have become very nearly equalized. Last week the merchant operators made so insignificant a gain in the number of ovens as to be compared with the very material increase at the furnace plants, that it is correct to say that for the time being at least, the former have ceased their expansive movement.

Of the 1,488 ovens brought to production last week all but nine were at plants of the H. C. Frick Coke company the increases including two plants, Crossland and Dearth long idle, both of which were fired up in full. Other gains consisted of additions ranging from one to 109 ovens at 28 plants already in running. This increase now places 38 out of the 57 Frick plants on the active list with 92.5 per cent of the company's ovens in production, restoring its interest to about the same rate of operation prevailing in March and April.

The merchant plants with 3,261 active ovens have an operating percentage of 88 and an output slightly in excess of that of early March when the policy of curtailing began to be applied more rigidly than preceding that date.

In addition to the halt in oven increase a number of merchant plants abbreviated the running schedule last week. Several larger plants ran but cut down to four days at all of its plants. These means of curtailing, which have been practiced ever since the sharp drop in the market late in January, are having the effect of checking an increase in the quantity of unconsigned coke, of which there has been more or less on sidings since the easement in spot demand following Independence Day.

Another factor helping the situation, as the coke producers view it, is the shortage of cars, both coal and coke. The latter are in more plentiful supply than the former, instances being reported from all coal leading sections of the region, without regard to the railroad, by which they are shipped, showing that the coal car supply has frequently dropped to less than 50 per cent of requirements, notwithstanding coke cars have to a certain extent been permitted to be used for coal loading. This practice will be prohibited the probabilities are that the relatively small shortage of coke cars will be relieved, but without much promise that the coal car supply will be bettered.

The coal market, both steam and by-product, continues to develop satisfactorily, except as shipments are being affected by insufficient car supply.

Estimated production of coke for the week ending Saturday, July 26, was 130,025 tons, the largest since the week ending March 15. By district the production was divided as follows: Connelville, 113,310, a gain of 20,510 tons; Lower Connelville, 71,718, a gain of 5,295 tons, or a total gain of 25,805 tons.

The gain was wholly at plants of the furnace interests; their production having been 118,565, an increase of 25,845 tons, as compared with 71,097, a loss of 40 tons, at the merchant plants.

PERRYOPOLIS, July 30.—David Stuckell, who is taking surgical treatment at Camp Lee, Va., has been spending several days with his mother here.

G. J. Davidson and family, Mrs. M. E. Davidson and Mrs. C. F. Chaffin left Wednesday morning for Lake Champlain where they will spend a two weeks vacation.

Perryopolis is to have a cannon the Yanks captured from the Germans. A bill has just been passed by Congress authorizing the Secretary of War to donate to Perryopolis one cannon with carriage and ammunition which our allies captured from the Germans. The cannon is to be placed in the public square and is at all times under control of the Secretary of War. W. S. Stuckell, acting through Congressman Kendall and Crago, has secured this valuable donation.

PROMPT UNLOADING OF COAL AND COKE CARS IS BEING URGED

Will Stimulate Production and Make It Possible for the Railroads to Move More Fuel.

Declaring that the supply of coal cars is falling short of requirements and that the indications are that a marked shortage will result in the future unless the supply is increased by more prompt release of cars at destination, the Pennsylvania Lines East has issued a circular appeal to the public under date of July 17, "for the prompt unloading of open cars."

The appeal is similar to the one issued by the Pennsylvania Lines East on August 29, 1918, to which it is stated a most hearty response was made by the receivers in general and other appeals for unloading cars, issued at various times during the war.

"While the conditions existing during the war do not obtain now," says the appeal, "the readjustment of all industrial and other activities requires that every effort be put forth by the carriers and their patrons to make possible the transportation of sufficient coal for domestic, industrial and public utility uses, and to this end an earnest appeal is made for renewed cooperation on the part of all receivers of freight, along the following lines:

"That all open-top cars, loaded with coal, coke or any other commodity, be unloaded immediately upon being placed for delivery.

"That, where not now in existence, cranes or mechanical devices for the expeditious unloading of coal or other lading be installed.

"That every effort be made to accumulate a stock of coal for future requirements."

LOSES SUIT.

Woman Sued for Alleged Damage to Property by Smoke and Cinders.

In a suit brought by Mrs. Loreta Shad against the National Tube company and the Smet-Solvay company at Wheeling, W. Va., to recover damages she alleged smoke and cinders from a coke and blast furnace had done to her property, a verdict was returned for the defendants.

Mrs. Shad asked $10,000 and the trial of the case lasted almost a month. The verdict is looked upon as an important one, in the bearing it will have on future actions of this kind.

The New Motor Vehicle Law

(So many changes have been made in the motor laws of Pennsylvania by the motor vehicle act, approved June 30, 1919, that few motorists are aware of more than a few. A digest of the act's provisions will be published in The Courier in installments, one each day. Motorists would do well to preserve the series for future reference.)

DUTY OF MAGISTRATES, RECORDS, RECEIPTS—Magistrates and other officials are required to make and preserve for a period of one year, an exact record of the proceedings, showing fine and costs paid, if any, subject to inspection of any person.

They are also required to deliver to the defendant, without charge, a receipt showing in detail the fine and costs paid. No magistrate or other official may divide his fees with any individual who may assist in making an arrest, etc.

Any violation of the provisions of this section shall constitute a misdemeanor in office. Fine, $100 to $500; imprisonment not exceeding 60 days.

DISPOSITION OF FINES—All fines collected and bail forfeited, except for violations of the provisions as to speed and weight, shall be paid to the State Treasurer for the use of the Highway Department.

Those collected for violations of the provisions as to speed or weight, shall be paid to the treasurer of the city, borough, town or township wherein the offense occurred, to be used for the maintenance of the highways.

RETURNS AND REPORTS FROM MAGISTRATES—Returns of such fines shall be made quarterly not later than the tenth day of January, April, July and October.

Reports of all fines and penalties collected shall also be made to the State Highway Commissioner on blanks furnished by the Department not later than the above dates.

Failure to make such quarterly returns and reports or either of them, shall constitute a misdemeanor in office. Fine, $100 to $500, or 60 days in the county jail or both.

CIVIL ACTIONS—Civil action for damages may, at the discretion of the plaintiff, be brought in the county wherein the alleged damages were sustained.

REPEAL—All previous automobile acts are repealed except that those provisions of the Act of July 7, 1913, relative to registration of motor vehicles and trailers and the licensing of operators remain in force until January 1, 1920.

Magistrates should bear in mind that while summary conviction cases should be disposed of by them, persons accused of violating the provisions of Sections 3, 11, 14, 16, 23, 34 and 35, which are defined as misdemeanors, should be held for court.

Says His Prescription Has Powerful Influence Over Rheumatism

Discoverer Tells Druggists Not to Take a Cent of Anyone's Money Unless They Completely Banish Rheumatism, Gout and Twinges.

Mr. James H. Allen suffered for years with rheumatism. Many times this terrible disease left him helpless and unable to work.

He finally decided, after years of ceaseless study, that no one can be free from rheumatism until the accumulated impurities, commonly uric acid deposits, were dissolved in the joints and muscles and expelled from the body.

With this idea in mind he consulted physicians, made experiments and finally compounded a prescription that quickly and completely banished every sign and symptom of rheumatism from his system.

He freely gave his discovery to others who took it, with what might be called marvelous success. After years of urging he decided to let sufferers everywhere know about his discovery through the newspapers.

Connellsville Drug Company has been appointed agent for Allegheny in this vicinity with the understanding that they will freely return the purchase money to all who state they received no benefit.—Adv.

GEE! HE FORGOT ALL ABOUT 'EM.

By EDWINA.

George was right about his mother's being proud. And even when she laughed with a negro gardener, or even chose few times in her life when people saw her weep, Isabel had a proud look—something that was independent and graceful and strong. But she did not have it now. She leaned against the wall, beside his dressing table, and seemed bent with humility and with weakness. Her head dropped.

"What answer are you going to make to such a letter?" George demanded, like a judge on the bench.

"I don't quite know, dear," she murmured.

"You don't?" he asked.

"Wait," she begged him. "I'm so—"

"I want to know what you're going to write him. Do you think if you did what he wants you to I could bear to stay another day in this town, mother? Do you think I could ever bear even to see you again if you married him? I'd want to, but you surely know I just couldn't!"

She made a futile gesture, and seemed to breathe with difficulty. "I wasn't quite sure," she faltered, "about—about it's being wise for us to be married—even before knowing how you feel about it. I wasn't even sure it was quite fair to—"

I have—I seem to have that family trouble—like father's—that I spoke to you about once. She managed a deprecating little dry laugh. "Not that it amounts to much, but I wasn't at all sure that it would be fair to him. Marrying doesn't mean so much, after all—not at my age. It's enough to know that—that people think of you—and to see them. I thought we were all—oh, pretty happy the way things were and I don't think it would mean giving up a great deal, or him or me, either, if we just went on as we have been—I see him almost every day, and—"

"Mother!" George's voice was loud and stern. "Do you think you could go on seeing him after this?"

She had been talking helplessly enough before, her tone was little more broken now. "Not—not even—see him?"

"How could you?" George cried. "Mother, it seems to me that if he ever set foot in this house again—"

"Oh! I can't speak of it. Could you see him, knowing what talk he makes every time he turns into this street, and knowing what that means to me? Oh, I don't understand all this—I don't!"

"If you told me, a year ago, that such things were going to happen, I'd have thought you were in sane—and now I believe I am!"

Then, after a preliminary gesture of despair as though he meant harm to the ceiling, he flung himself heavily, face downward, upon the bed. His anguish was none the less real for its vehemence, and the strident lady came to him instantly and bent over him, once more enfolding him in her arms. She said nothing but suddenly her tears fell upon his head; she saw them and seemed to be startled.

"Oh this won't do!" she said. "I've never let you see me cry before except when your father died. I mustn't!"

And she ran from the room.

A little while after she had gone George rose and began solemnly to dress for dinner.

He sat gravely at the dinner table with Lucy to partake of a meal throughout which neither spoke. Isabel had sent word "not to wait" for her, on intuition it was as well they obeyed for she did not come at all. But with the renewal of sustenance furnished to his system some relaxation must have occurred within the quite strange George. Dinner was not quite finished when, without warning, sleep hit him hard. His burning eyes could no longer restrain the lids above them, his head sagged beyond control and he got his feet, and went lurching upstairs, yawning with exhaustion. From the door of his room, which he closed mechanically, with his eyes shut, he went blindly to his bed, fell upon it suddenly, and slept with his face full upturned to the light.

It was after midnight when he woke, and the room was dark. He had not dreamed but he woke with the sense that somebody or something had been with him while he slept—somebody or something indubitably compassionate or somebody or something infinitely protective that would let him come to no harm and to no grief.

He got up and pressed the light on. Placed to the cover of his dressing table was a square envelope, with the words "For you, dear" written in pencil upon it. But the message inside was in ink, a little smudged here and there.

"I have been out to the mail box, darling, with a letter I've written to Eugene, and he'll have it in the morning. It would be unfair not to let him know at once, and my decision could not change if I waited. It would always be the same. I think it is a little better for me to write to you, like this, instead of waiting till you wake up and then telling you because I'm foolish and might cry again, and I took a vow once, long ago, that you should never see me cry. I think what makes me most ready to cry now is the thought of the terrible suffering in your poor face, and the unhappy knowledge that it is I your mother, who put it there. I shall never come again! I love you better than anything and everything else on earth. God gave you to me—and oh! how thankful I have been every day of my life for that sacred gift—and nothing can ever come between me and God's gift. And Eugene was right—I know, you couldn't change about this. Your suffering's worse now deep seated the feeling is within you. So I've written him just about what I think you would like me to—though I told him I would always be fond of him, and always his best friend, and I hoped his dearest friend. He'll understand about not seeing him. He'll understand that, though I didn't say it in so many words. You mustn't trouble about that—he'll understand. Good-night, my darling, my beloved, my beloved! You mustn't be troubled. I think I shouldn't mind anything very much so long as I have you all to myself—as people say—to make up for your long years away from me at college. We'll talk of what's best to do in the morning. I don't want to see you all this time and forget your loving and devoted mother.

CHAPTER XVIII.

Having finished some errands downtown, the next afternoon, George Amberson Minner was walking up National avenue on his homeward way when he saw in the distance, coming toward him, upon the same side of the street, the figure of a young lady—a figure just under the middle height, comely indeed, and to be mistaken for none other in the world—even at two hundred yards. To his sharp discomfiture his heart immediately forced upon him the consciousness of its acceleration; a sudden warmth about his neck made him aware that he had turned red, and then, departing left him pale. For a panicky moment he thought of facing about in actual flight, he had little doubt that Lucy would meet him with no token of recognition, and all at once this probability struck him as unendurable. And if she did not speak, was it the proper part of civility to lift his hat and take the cut bare-headed? Or should the lady gentleman acquiesce in the lady's desire for no further acquaintance, and pass her with stony mien and eyes constrained forward? George was a young man fully flustered.

As they drew nearer George tried to prepare himself to meet her with some me know; not even a word—not a line."

Her manner persisted in being inconsequent. "Why, no," she said. "I just trotted off for some visits. Don't you remember, George? We'd had a grand quarrel, and didn't speak to each other all the way home from a long, long drive! So, as we couldn't play together like good children, of course it was plain that we ought to play at all."

"Play?" he cried.

"Yes. What I mean is that we'd come to the point where it was time to quit playing—well what we were playing."

"At being lovers, you mean, don't you?"

"Something like that," she said lightly. "For us two playing at being lovers was just the same as playing at cross-purposes. I had all the purposes, and that gave you all the cross-purposes; things weren't getting along at all."

"It was absurd!"

"Well, have it your own way," he said. "I needn't have been absurd."

"No. It couldn't help but be," she informed him cheerfully. "The way I am and the way you are it couldn't ever be anything else. So what was the use?"

"I don't know," he sighed and his sigh was abysmal. "But what I wanted to tell you was this when you went away, you didn't let me know and didn't care how or when I heard it, but I'm not like that with you."

"This time I'm going away. That's what I wanted to tell you. I'm going away tomorrow night—indeed, indeed, Lucy, this is our last walk together."

"Evidently," she said. "If you're going away tomorrow night."

"Lucy—this may be the last time I'll see you—ever—in my life."

At that she looked up at him anxiously, across her shoulder, but smiled as brightly as before and with the same cordial inconsequence. "Oh, I can hardly think that," she said. "And of course I'd be awfully sorry to think it. You're not moving away, are you, to live?"

"I don't know when I'm coming back. Mother and I are starting tomorrow night for a trip around the world."

"At this she'd look thoughtful. "Your mother is going with you?"

"Good heavens," he groaned. "Lucy, doesn't it make any difference to you that I am going?"

At this her cordial smile instantly appeared again.

"Yes, of course," she said. "I'm sure I'll miss you ever so much. Are you to be gone long?"

He stared at her wanly. "I told you indefinitely," he said. "We've made no plans at all—for coming back."

"That does sound like a long trip!" she exclaimed admiringly. "Do you plan to be traveling all the time, or will you stay in some one place the greater part of it? I think it would be lovely to."

He halted, and she stopped with him. They had come to a corner at the edge of the "business section" of the city, and people were everywhere about them, brushing against them, sometimes in passing.

"I can't stand this," George said, in a low voice. "I'm just about ready to go in this drug store here and ask the clerk for something to keep me from dying in my tracks! It's quite a shock, you see, Lucy!"

"What is?"

"To find out certainly, at last, how deeply you've cared for me! To see how much difference this makes to you! By Jove I have mattered to you!"

Her cordial smile was tempered now with good nature. "George!" She laughed indulgently. "Surely you don't want me to do patches on a downtown corner!"

"You wouldn't do patches any more?"

"Well—don't you think patches are generally rather foolish?"

"I can't stand this any longer," he said. "I can't! Good bye, Lucy!" He took her hand. It was good bye—I think it's good bye for good Lucy!"

"Good bye! I do hope you'll have the most splendid trip!" She gave his hand the Blues of Thousands of Boys Overseas

When the two sons of Mrs. Elise Bolander, a musician, of Berkeley, Cal., went to war, the mother decided that the remainder of the family should go, too. The remainder of the family consisted of Mrs. Bolander and three daughters, Alice, Mabel and Pearl. They are all concert artists, and when the first call went out from the Y.M.C.A. for entertainers they enlisted as a unit.

Mrs. Bolander played the guitar and ukulele in this private quartet. Pearl played the cornet, Alice the drums, oboe piano and accordion and Mabel the piano and clarinet. The result was the jazziest orchestra, so the boys say, that ever visited a cantonment.

For more than a year this group played the Y.M.C.A. circuit, visiting practically every camp in the country and playing to hundreds of thousands of men. They were not allowed to go across because of the two boys on the other side but when the armistice was signed the request for overseas service, which they had had in for more than a year, was granted. They have been in France for several months playing rag time in camps and at the leave areas. They made their first appearance at the Pavilion, in Paris, and were an instantaneous success.

a cordial little grip then released it lightly. "Give my love to your mother. Good bye!"

He turned heavily away, and a moment later glanced back over his shoulder. She had not gone on, but stood watching him, that same casual cordial smile on her face to the very last, and now as he looked back, emphasized his friendly unconcern by wagging her small hand to him cheerily, though puny with the slightest hint of preoccupation as if she had begun to think of the errand that brought her down town.

BRITISH ADVANCE IN AFRICA

Plan to Open Country Which the Huns Had Picked as Worthy of Exploitation

Railway development in Africa is evidently to be prosecuted with vigor. At any rate, plans are under discussion for a branch railway into Ruanda from the main line that German engineers had but just completed from the Indian ocean to Lake Tanganyika.

The new line will advance into a country where the war in Europe probably saved the natives from German attack. Ruanda had remained an undeveloped part of the German possession on but had been examined and written down as particularly worth while to develop for the variety of its products.

The new railway had brought German military force within striking distance and the history of German management in Africa gives every reason to believe that the opening up of the Ruanda country would have been a disaster for the natives who inhabit it. From the British viewpoint these natives are to be cultivated rather than antagonized. They are in fact one of the superior races of Africa held to be related to the Egyptians, Assyrians or some other ancient African people and should be benefited rather than injured by the coming of the iron horse and the opening up of their country under British auspices—Christian Science Monitor.

Appreciated American Spirit.

Here is an anecdote from Maj. Ian Hay, Beth's "The Last Million" that shows the feeling of one British officer toward the American doughboy. "I like the young American's passionate affection for his country," said the officer, and his fixed determination to boost everything connected with her. One day I was waiting in a village for an American staff car which was being sent for me from Chamant. I found one standing at the corner of the street, so I asked the chauffeur, thinking he might be from headquarters, "Where are you from?" And he sat up and replied all in one breath, as if I had tossed a button. "Sir, I am from Dayton, Ohio, the greatest steam shovel manufacturing center in the world." Just like that. That is what I call the right spirit!

It has been said of Americans that they work their habits over.

Many become nervous and inefficient by overwork. By worry, despondency, social affairs, robbing brain and body of needed rest, excessive use of tobacco, indulgence in strong alcoholic drink—excesses of every kind that burn up the vital powers so necessary in these trying times to make both men and women fit to be of help to themselves and others.

It is time to be temperate in all things. The man or woman with impaired nerves caused by impoverished blood lacks vigor, the ambition, the endurance and the keen mind of those who avoid excesses.

Timidity, despondency, fear, trembling hands, want of confidence and even cowardice, are due in a large measure to abused nerves. People with plenty of red blood, courage and strong, healthy nerves have no desire to shirk work and lean on others for guidance and support.

There is hardly a nerve-shattered man or woman (unless of an organic disease) in America today who cannot become alert and clear in mind, vigorous and energetic in body in a very few weeks and at trifling cost.

To become strong and ambitious, to feel that work is not drudgery, to have steady nerves, abundance of red blood and power of endurance, to be not only a man but as men now go, a superman, you must take seven tablets of Bio-Tonic every day for seven days—and take them faithfully.

Take two after each meal and one at bedtime and after seven days take one only after meal until the supply is exhausted.

Then if you feel that any claim made in this special notice is untrue—if your nerves are not steady as before, if you do not feel ambitious, more vigorous and keen-minded, the pharmacist who dispensed the tablets to you will gladly hand you back just what you paid for them.

Bio-Tonic is without doubt the greatest remedy for nervous, rundown, weak, anemic men and women ever offered direct through druggists and is not at all expensive. All druggists in this city and vicinity have a supply on hand—sell many packages.

LOWLY PENNY IS COMING INTO ITS OWN THESE DAYS

Philadelphia Mint Is Producing Two to Three Million Coppers Daily.

STILL 8,000,000 LACKING

Increased Demand Largely Due to the War Taxes and Higher Prices Necessary for the Addition of One or Two Cents to Many Items of Trade.

Special to The Courier.
PHILADELPHIA, July 31.—Every dog has his day, but this is the day of the penny. The insignificant copper cent has taken the place of the all-mighty dollar in fiscal importance to the American public.

War taxation has created a demand for pennies that is unprecedented in the history of domestic currency. To meet this enormously increased demand the United States Mint at Seventeenth and Spring Garden streets is producing from 2,000,000 to 3,000,000 one-cent pieces daily.

The necessity for coining more pennies manifested itself as a result of the standard of uneven prices that, because of war taxes, has been established in the business, transportation and almost every commercial phase of community life.

The increased demand for pennies is especially noticed in cities because of the volume of exchange of small currency in the usual daily expenditures of the urbanite. Although machines in the mint in this city are stamping out coppers day and night the mint is still 8,000,000 pennies behind orders. Adam M. Joyce, superintendent of the Mint in Philadelphia, yesterday said that when the war taxes first came into effect the supply of pennies on the market was surprisingly inadequate to the new demand. It was first thought that perhaps some industrial enterprises might have been melting one-cent pieces down for copper, that metal being very difficult to obtain at the time. Government investigation, however, disclosed that this was not the case, but that the scarcity of pennies on the western coast had drawn a large amount of copper coin to that part of the country.

While figures are not available at the present time, the output of pennies minted in this city since the war has been far greater than any year since the establishment of the Mint in Philadelphia. Notwithstanding the increased local output, until Uncle Sam produces a supply of coppers adequate to the present demand an appreciable loss will be noticed in the earnings of baby's penny bank.
